

For the Love of God

(Titus 3:1-7)

The bible reminds us to be subject,
To rulers and authorities in charge.

To be ready for every good work,
And to be nice to all people at large.

Be peaceable, gentle and humble,
Showing this character to all men.

Because we were once disobedient,
Hateful, foolish, and full of much sin.

But when the kindness and love of God,
In the Savior appeared to all folk.

Taught to us by the Word the things to obey,
And directions given as the Holy Spirit spoke.

Not by works of righteousness,
Or good deeds that I've done.

But according to richness of His mercy,
He saved us through His Son.

Justified by His wonderful grace,
With more hope that should suffice.

We've become heirs to the promise,
Of blissful eternal life.

*Jay Launius 2018
Maud church of Christ
Maud, Texas*