

Can I Trust You?

Rusty is a good ole fella,
A friend in him did confide.
But when Rusty got to the coffee shop,
He told the secret with pride.

Julie is the sweetest girl,
The kind you'd want your son to meet.
But when Julie hears a friend's secret,
The unrevealed she's unable to keep.

When we see someone in conversation,
And it's none of our business you know.
We'll poke and pry like a busybody,
Then off to the gossip club we'll go!

Christians should practice discretion,
And not listen to any idle chatter.
A talebearer will reveal all secrets,
But the faithful spirit will conceal a matter.
(Proverbs 11:13)

*Jay Launius – 2021
Maud church of Christ
Maud, Texas*